CRESTON HIGH SCHOOL

Unlike the traditional one-room red schoolhouse of yesteryear, the building in which we come to do our readin', writin', and 'rithmetic is of blonde brick and possesses classrooms, shops, a cafe, a band room, and an auditorium.

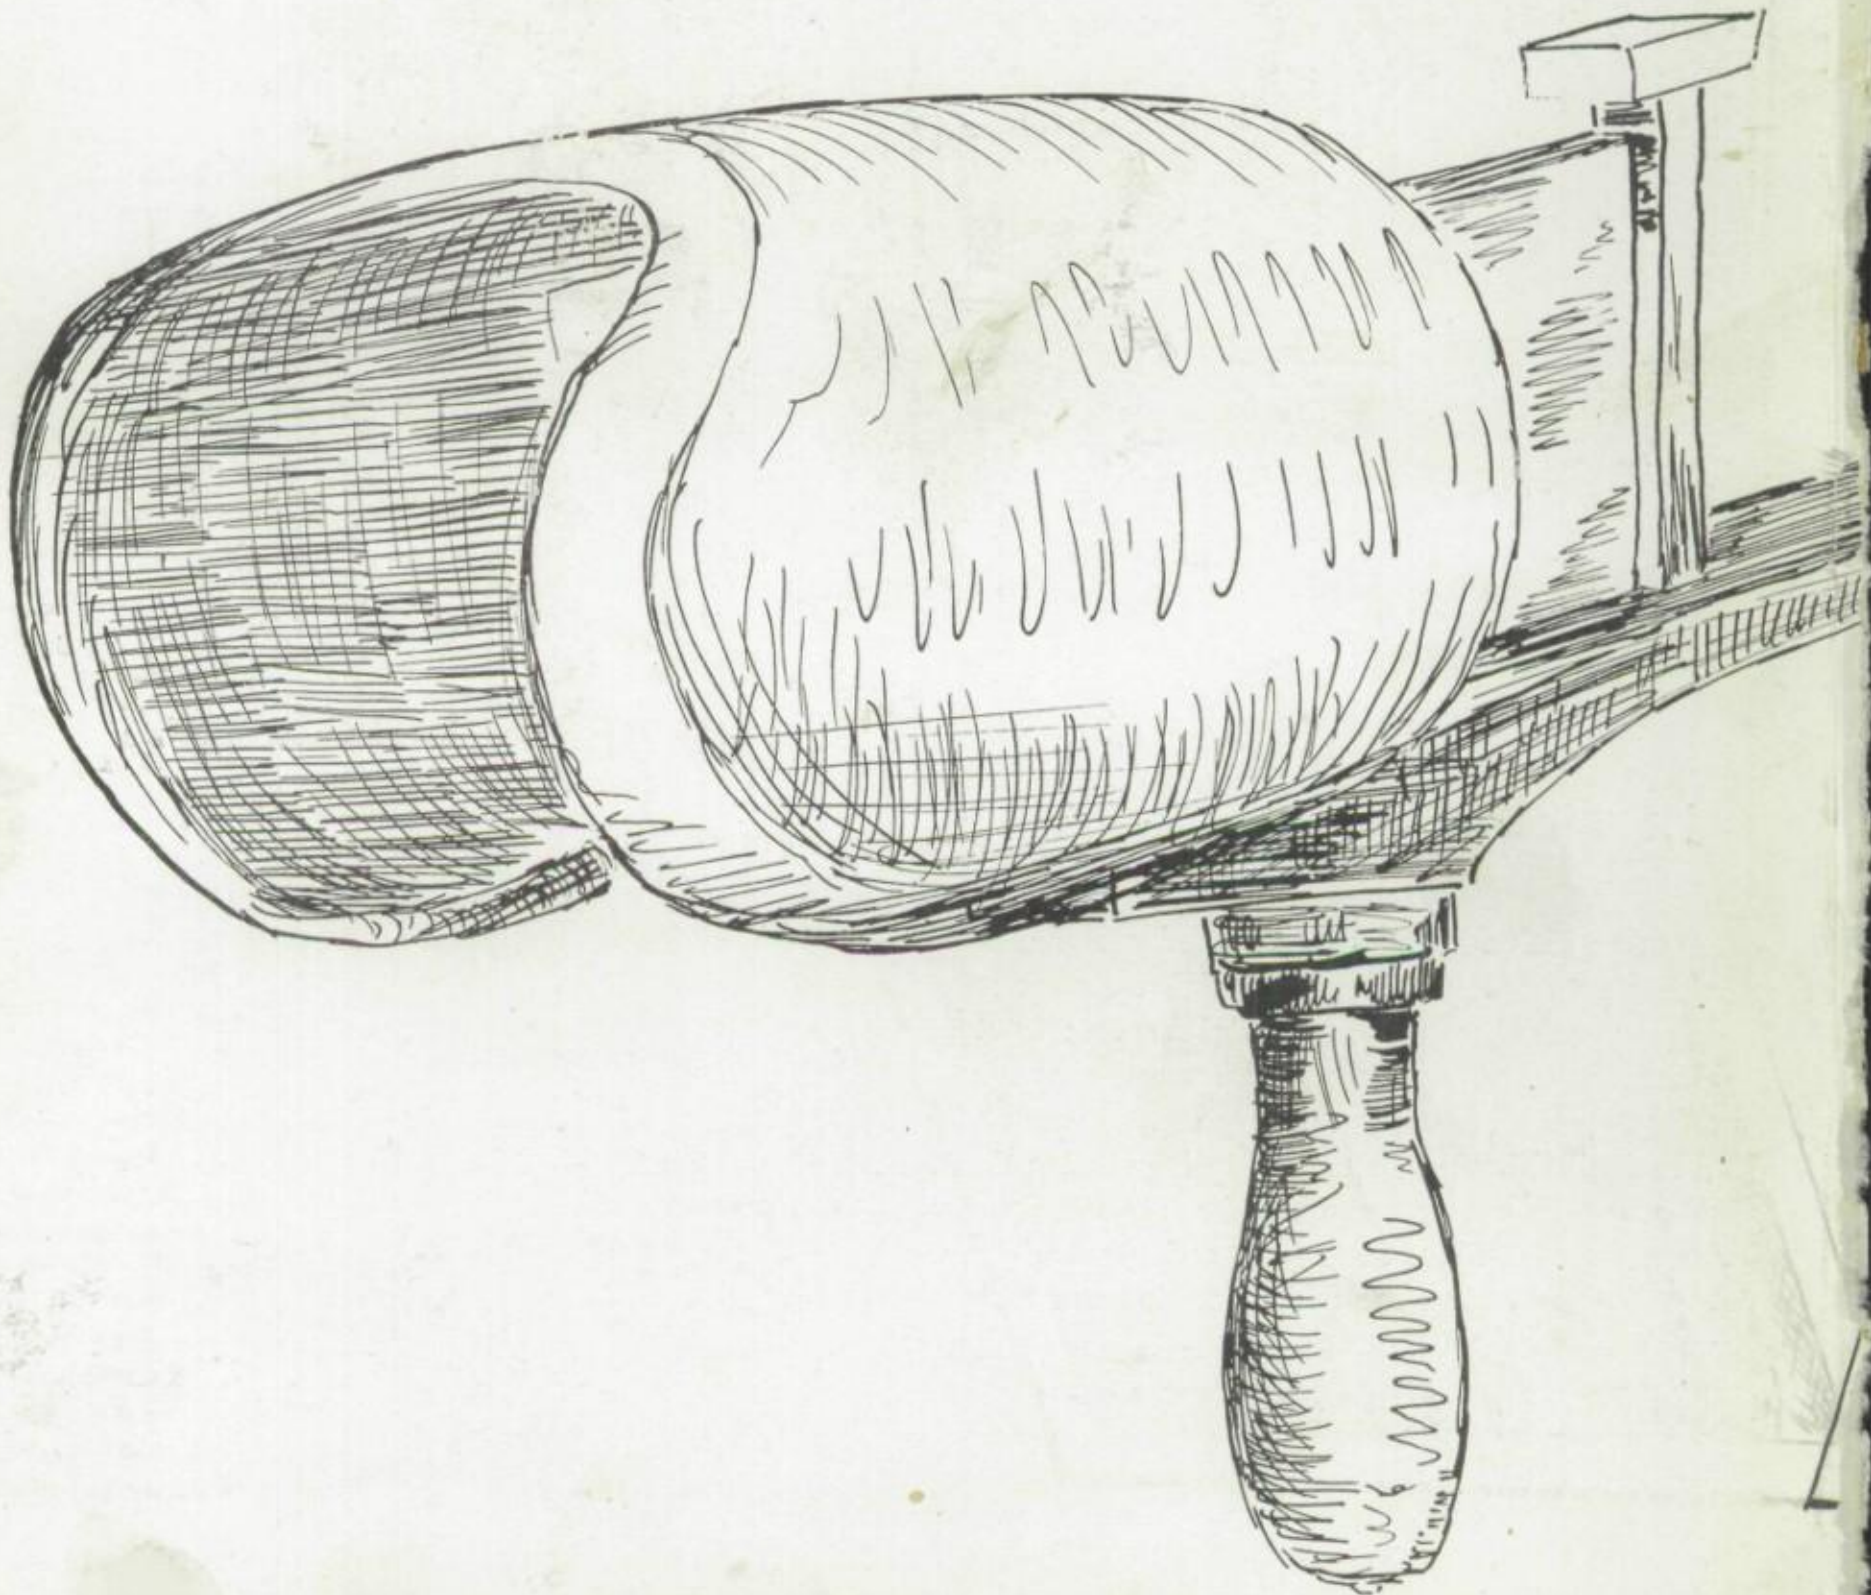

Instead of having 30 to 40 pupils pursuing the three R's of knowledge, approximately 1700 students select their course while each June about 200 graduates leave Creston's doors to make their way in the world.

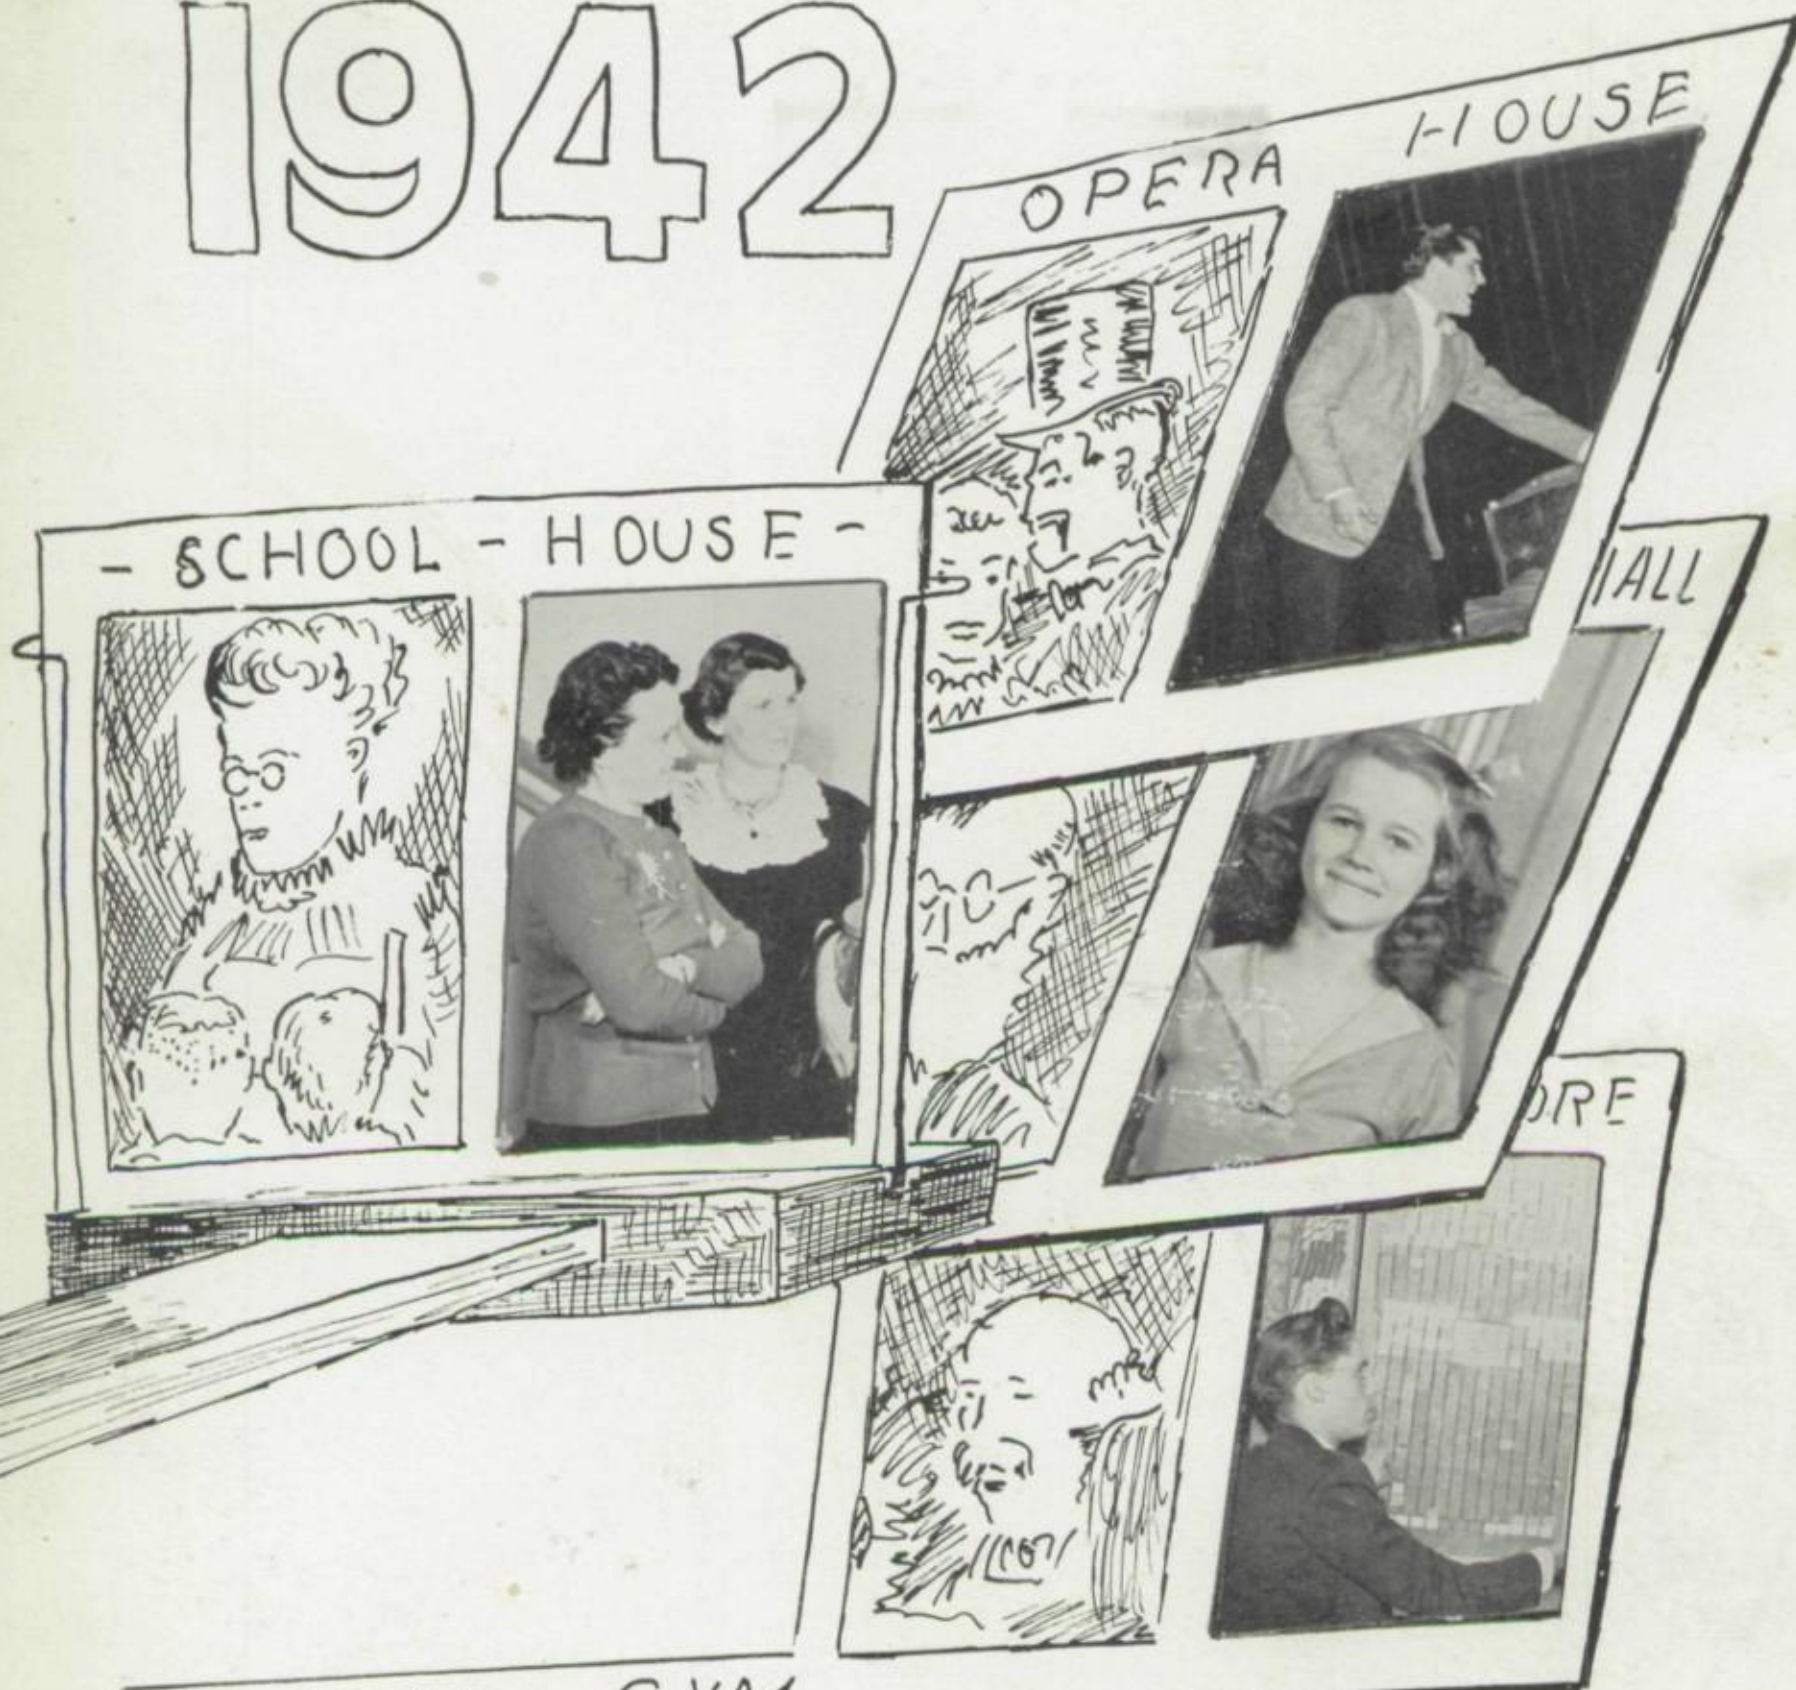

SAAGA

Foreword

To forget for a few minutes all the present day strife and havoc and to recall those "good old days" so often referred to by our grandfathers, we the Saga Staff of 1942 have taken as our theme the days of "the tandem bicycle" when Pa's mustache cup was modish and Ma proudly displayed her ostrich plumed hat.

Our head master, Mr. Howard Wickett, principal, who stands by to guide and direct either the students or happenings within our school. In the five years he has been with us we have never found a more sunny smile, willing hand, or helpful man than he.

Dedication

To Mr. Roy Perce, who as Creston's wood shop instructor, has won many friends both among the students and faculty.

His winning smile and cheerful manner make him everybody's pal, for he is one grand fellow!

SCHOOLHOUSE

The 1942 Senior Class

The customary day of relaxation for the dignified, known as "Goons' Holiday," was again carried out, students appearing in traditional garb.

With the Junior-Senior Prom held on May 23, followed by Class Day activities on June 5 and graduation ceremonies on June 11, the class of 1942 made a dignified exit from the portals of Creston High School.

At the beginning of the fall semester the senior class elections were held. The following people were elected: Gerald Dupler, president; Rolland Van Hattum, vice president; Donna Deweerd, secretary; Irving Sullivan, treasurer.

To represent the senior class at the Winter Carnival, Barbara Scharlow was chosen and Connie Ingersoll was candidate for Queen of Inter-High Presidents' Ball.

On March 11, 12, 13 the senior class presented a play, "Ever Since Eve."

The annual Smorgasbord was held May 1. The music was furnished by Frank Winegar and his orchestra.

The class of '42 chose as its motto, "Succeed: We Can — We Must" and endeavored to carry this theme into its activities. Maroon and white were the class colors. Chairmen of the committees to select these were Robert Stellema and Ed Jensen. The class song was written by Beverly Van Wingen and Jack Chalmers.

Top: President Dupler and Vice-President Van Hattum check figures on Smorgasbord tickets.

Individual pictures: Secretary Donna De Weerd and Treasurer Irving Sullivan.

Bottom: B Fuller, E. Robinson, D. Jackman, B. Meyers, and J. Hogue.

Machine shop work and mechanical drawing were of special interest to Donald Baar, who hopes to become a tool and die maker.

Betty Bishop was interested in home economics. She was an usher for the Junior Revue, and in the Senior Girl Reserves.

Bouncing from place to place, Jim Blandford played football and was in the "C" Club.

Katherine Block had a gift for getting along with people. She worked on make-up for dramatic productions and was a Senior Girl Reserve.

Norma Bolt had an interest in commercial subjects and belonged to the Hikers.

Julius Blymeir was a credit to the music department. Last year he received the honor of being elected "the player showing the most improvement in band." He also won second division in the state band solo contest.

Basketball and football were Jack Boonstra's chief extra-curricular interest. Jack was also a member of the "C" Club.

Virginia Boot served on the Courtesy Squad for two years. "Ginny" also took part in the girls' meet, Junior Revue, and was a member of the Hikers Club.

Genial, good natured Mary Boucher listed among her activities the Courtesy Squad, Student Council, and ushering for Junior Revue. She was a member of the Presidents Club.

Orville Bowman was a hard worker who took an interest in all that went on. He was an R.O.T.C. sergeant.

Willard Braman is the handsome athletic type. He played on the football team, sang in the choir and was a member of the Junior Honor Society and "C" Club.

Strawberry blonde, Lorraine Brown, was a member of the glee club and took part in the Girls' Meet.

Fay Adair combined his interest in sports and journalism by acting as sports editor of both the Echo and Saga, besides being a cheer leader and a member of the track team. Energetic Fay belonged to the "C" Club, Camera Club, and the Student Council.

Phyllis Adams satisfied her interest in music by playing in the Senior Band for three years. She also took part in the girls' meet.

Strike up the band! Here comes Charles E. Albright, who not only played in the band, but was also the concert master of the orchestra for three years. He further showed his musical talent by placing in the first division in the state solo festival.

Tall Norman Addington was a definite asset to Creston's baseball team and belonged to both the "C" Club and the Hi-Y. He also took part in the One-Act Plays.

Betty Lou Anderson had a smile for everyone. She was a soloist with the choir, in the A. B. Club, and fond of music.

Dark-haired Eunice Anderson took part in the glee club, Courtesy Squad, and girls' meet. She was also an active member of the Senior Girl Reserves.

The very capable Frank Andrews was editor-in-chief of the Saga, a member of the Science Club, Student Council, Honor Societies, and Bars and Chevrons Club. He also held a six-year perfect attendance record.

That curly hair made Jack Atkins the envy of many seniors. This laughing boy was a sergeant in the R.O.T.C. and interested in printing.

You could usually find Richard Barnum in the print shop where he acted as printing make-up foreman for the Echo. Dick also gave his services to the Courtesy Squad.

A live-wire of wit is Sally Burch, who was a very busy girl with her work in dramatics, athletics, Echo, and her membership in the Footlights, A.B., Girl Reserves, and Hikers Club.

Creston's favorite humorist and cartoonist, Jerry Butler, was also a member of the Camera Club and Echo Staff. He took a special interest in printing.

Elizabeth Byl, quiet and sedate, took particular interest in commercial subjects. She was also a member of the Hikers Club.

Dorothy Cahill was a faithful member of the Amicitia Club. She was a grand person to have around and her friends missed her the last semester.

Evelyn Cantile was one of the quiet members of our class. She belonged to the Hikers Club and participated in the Junior Revue, besides taking a special interest in clothing.

Blonde Karen Carlyon sang in the choir and was under-class editor of the Saga. During her senior year she was a member of the Footlights Club, Senior Girl Reserves, and Amicitias.

The Machine Shop held special interest for tall Maynard Carpenter, who was also in the R.O.T.C.

William Chadwick proved his interest in science and mathematics by being an active member of the Science Club. The amiable "Bill" also belonged to the Hi-Y and ROTC.

You're in the army! Well, a Lieutenant Colonel in the ROTC, anyway. Jack Chalmers topped his military career by acting as president of the Bars and Chevrons Club. He also appeared in Gloria, the One-Act Plays, and the senior play.

Everybody likes Betty Chinnow, who sang in the a cappella choir for two years, was a member of the Courtesy Squad, Latin Club, and Honor Society.

Betty Churchill had one of those "all around" personalities which literally sparkled. Her extra-curricular activities consisted of the Courtesy Squad, the orchestra, and membership in the Amicitia, Presidents, and Horizon Club.

Mischievous, amiable Peggy Clemens was costume manager for the One-Act Plays, a member of the Courtesy Squad, and the Hikers.

Sweet and shy, Teresa Cobb acted as an usher for Gloria and was in the Junior Revue.

Taking part in the One-Act Plays, Norma Stinson was fond of dramatics. She sang in the choir, took part in the Junior Revue and Gloria, was on the Courtesy Squad, and belonged to the Amicitia Club.

Orva Stocking had a pleasant way about her. She was in the Senior Girl Reserves and Hikers. She liked home economics.

Quiet, reserved and sweet, Marjorie Stowie was in the choir, the Girls' Meet and the Junior Revue. She worked with particular zest at clothing.

Robert Stouten was a first lieutenant in the ROTC. He served on the Courtesy Squad, was in the second choir, Gloria, and the Bars and Chevrons.

Diminutive in size but great in scholastic ability, Don Strobe was in the One-Act Plays, played in the band, was assistant director for Gloria, on the Student Council, in the Latin Club, Science Club, Junior Revue, and Junior and Senior Honor Societies.

Louetta Storz didn't take part in extra-curricular activities, but she was always willing to help.

Energetic Grace Struik worked on the properties committee of the Senior play, was in the Junior Revue, Girls' Meet, served on the Courtesy Squad, and belonged to the Senior Girl Reserves and Hikers.

Donald Sullivan worked on dramatic productions and could always be counted on to pipe up with a bright remark.

Diversified interests make Irving Sullivan a valuable member of the class. He was treasurer of the Junior and Senior Classes, business manager for the Junior Revue and Senior Play, president of the Student Council, and secretary of the Inter-High Red Cross.

Active in athletics, Celeste Tappen is a member of the A.B. Club, winner of an all-city honor, and girls' athletics editor of the Saga. She belonged to the Hikers Club, and was assistant director for Gloria, an usher for the One-Act plays.

Maurice Taylor showed his musical talents by playing in the band and orchestra. He appeared in the Junior Revue and the One-Act Plays.

His friendly nature made Jack Tate nice to have around. He was on the stage crew for "Ever Since Eve," on the Courtesy Squad, and secretary of the Hi-Y.

Frank Tefft was fond of music and played in the senior orchestra. He also could be seen tinkering with the public address system.

John Vander Geissen was a loyal band member who backed school affairs.

Full of pep and always ready to lend a hand, Bob Vander Heide was in the band and orchestra, and showed his stage ability in the Junior Revue.

Johnny Vander Laan was always ready to laugh. He was in the Bars and Chevrons, worked on the Echo, and was interested in mathematics.

Playing four years in the Creston band, Henry Vander Linde was a basketball manager, a member of the "C" Club and appeared in the senior play as "Cappy." He was also in Gloria.

Dependability being one of her assets, Marjorie Vander Linde has been an Echo typist for a year and a half. She served on the Courtesy Squad and took part in the Girls' Meet.

Patient and hard working, Neil Vander Male appeared in the Junior Revue, worked on the One-Act Plays and Gloria, and was a manager of the football team.

The joy of living radiates from Josephine Vander Stel. She was chairman of the costume committee for the Junior Revue, a member of the Junior Honor Society, and was in the Girls' Meet.

One of the most prominent members of the class, Roland Van Hattum was class vice-president, in the National Honor Society, president of the Hi-Y, a member of the "C" Club, a cheer leader, in the Junior Revue, One-Act Plays, Gloria, and the Senior Play.

Smiling and gay, Gertrude Van Houte appeared in the Junior Revue, was an Echo and Saga typist, sang in the choir, was in the Girls' Meet, worked on the One-Act Plays, appeared in Gloria, was in the A.B. Club, the Honor Society and won her numeral letter.

Beverly Van Wingen's winning smile made her a pleasant person to have around. She was an usher for the One-Act Plays, played the organ at Gloria, and was a member of the Horizon Club. She furnished accompaniment for the Junior Amateur Show, the Junior Revue, and the traveling assembly.

Margaret Van Zalen's quiet and sincere manner made her a valuable member of the Courtesy Squad. She took part in the Girls' Meet and was in the Glee Club.

Jean Ver Heulen was demure and nice to know. She took part in the Girls' Meet, was an usher for the Junior Revue, and belonged to the Senior Girl Reserves, Hikers, and Latin Club.

Another music lover, Gladys Tefft, also played in the senior orchestra.

A studious member of the class, Nancy Terkeurst sang in the choir, appeared in the Junior Revue, the Girls' Meet and Gloria. She was a member of the Junior and Senior Honor Societies, Presidents Club, and the Senior Girl Reserves.

Barbara Thomson was little, but she got around. She worked on dramatic productions, and appeared in the Junior Revue.

Friendly and cheerful, Jo Anne Toenjes worked on the stage crew for the One-Act Plays, was an usher for Gloria, and appeared in the Junior Revue. She served on the Courtesy Squad and belonged to the Hikers Club.

Long and lean, Harry Truckle was in the "C" Club, the track team and all-city second team football.

A cheerful fellow who was liked by all, Bill Tubergen will be remembered for his appearance as "Spud" in the senior play. He appeared in the Junior Revue, the One-Act Plays and Gloria, was on the track team, and in the "C" Club and Hi-Y.

Quiet and modest is Gloria Tuffs, who liked music and sang in the choir and appeared in Gloria. She was friendly and had a gift for getting along with people.

Coming to Creston in her senior year, sweet and charming Edith Van Andel was on the Echo staff, belonged to the Senior Girl Reserves and was on the publicity committee for the senior play.

Fred VanAssen was a ready, willing and able member of the class, who played tackle on the football team. He had a ready wit and lent his humor to all occasions.

For such a little girl, Rita Verlin had a lot of friends. She was a Senior Girl Reserve and liked clothing.

A choir member, Bertha Voshol also was on the Courtesy Squad, in Gloria, a Senior Usher, and a Girl Reserve.

Always ready to help, Jerry Warren was in the Bars and Chevrons and Camera Clubs. He was interested in ROTC and machine shop.

A good person to call a friend, Marie Washburn was a Senior Girl Reserve. She was picked for both the Junior and Senior Honor Societies.

Though small, Janice Waters did a lot. She was a Senior Girl Reserve, a Hiker, in the Latin Club, Senior Honor Society, and on the Courtesy Squad.

Archery was Gerald Weaver's hobby. He was also interested in wood shop and machine shop.

Did you ever see her when she wasn't busy? Phyllis Wertz was a member of the Footlights Club, Echo, Saga, and also served on the War Council.

Bob Wilson knows how to get things done. He was in the band, on the track team, and in the Junior Revue.

Mae Wolbers aspires to become a secretary. She was well liked by all who knew her.

When we think of Theola Wolverton, we think of giggles. This happy Senior Usher was in the Junior Revue, Girls' Meet, One-Act Plays, Gloria, on the Student Council, and a member of the Senior Girl Reserves and Senior Honor Society.

A little girl with plenty of pep, Barbara Wood was in the Junior Revue and Gloria. She belonged to the Hikers, Girl Reserves, and Latin Club.

Bernice Zagumny was always willing to do her part. She worked on the costume committee of the Junior Revue.

Betty Zeldam took part in numerous activities, among them A.B. Club, the Girls' Meet, the Junior Revue, and was an All-City title winner.

Ivan Zimmerman always seemed to be smiling. He was a first sergeant in the ROTC. He was out for track, in the Junior Revue, and traveling assembly. He was also in the Bars and Chevrons.

Hunting and fishing were the chief pleasures of Henry Glass, who was interested in forestry.

"Petite" Margret Nellist was in the senior orchestra and the string trio. She took part in the Junior Revue, was a member of the Latin Club, Senior Honor Society, and Senior Girl Reserves.

SCOTTISH DANCE

The Junior Class

Following the usual custom, the Junior Class of '43 began their eventful year with an election of officers. Voted into office as president was Charles Allen; vice president, Glorya Drake; secretary, Bee Beuker; and treasurer, Ben Mol.

To begin its activities, the class sponsored several dances after the basketball games.

With Charles Harrison acting as master of ceremonies, the Junior Amateur Hour was presented on February 18. The purpose of this show was to raise money for the traditional Revue.

The annual Junior Revue was given on April 9th and 10th. The various dances, which were open to the whole school, together with the brief skits, limited to Juniors only, made this presentation a great success.

Winding up the year's cycle of events, the Junior-Senior Prom was held in May with the Juniors acting as hosts.

Top to bottom: Charles Allen, president; Glorya Drake, vice-president; Bee Beuker, secretary; Ben Mol, treasurer.

Junior Revue

On April 8, 9, and 10, the Junior Class sponsored the Junior Revue to raise funds for the Junior-Senior Prom.

Among the picturesque skits was "Do You Remember?" in which Pat Blackburn, Doris Schestag, Barbara Howes, Donna Mulder, and Beverly Anderson sang several old favorites.

Another skit "Wear and Tear" featured a style show in which many Junior Class boys modeled.

"He Married Our Nell," an old-fashioned melodrama, featuring Charles Day, Betty Datema, Harry Fuller, Norine Jacobitz, Phil Gordon, and Rose Hendricks.

The people who made this Revue possible were our Junior Class advisers, Mr. Jay J. Rens, Miss Lois Conrad, who directed the skits, and Junior Class president, Charles Allen. Also, the cooperation of the Junior Class helped put the Revue over with a bang.

Mr. Teele said, "It was the best Junior Revue ever put on by any Junior Class."

Senior Play

"Ever Since Eve" was the play chosen for presentation by the seniors this year.

Given on March 12 and 13, "Ever Since Eve" was a modern story centered around two young high school students in charge of the school newspaper. When the new assistant editor turned out to be a girl, the boys looked for complications.

Casting for the play was as follows: Dorothy Madsen as Mrs. Clover, Gerald Dupler as Mr. Clover, Rolland Van Hattum as Johnny Clover, Bill Tubergen as Spud Irwin, Joan Hogue as Susan Blake, Sally Burch as Miss Willard, Mary Ellen Smith as Betsy Irwin, Henry Vander Linde as Cappy, Ed Dryer as Henry Quinn, Rae Steils as Lucy Belle, and Don Gebraad as Preston Hughes.

Below (sitting): B. Day, G. Struck, M. Smith, C. Ingersoll, B. Scharlow, R. Van Hattum, H. Post, S. Kuieck, D. Jackman, A. Coleman, D. Gebraad, R. Stiels, H. Vander Linde, D. Hillis.

Standing: J. Hogue, M. Harroun, R. Cordes, M. Heitz, W. Tubergen, P. Gordon, N. Terkeurst, I. Sullivan, G. Dupler, R. Reedtz, E. Dryer, J. Tate, D. Pollie, G. Slykhouse, J. Chalmers.

Gloria

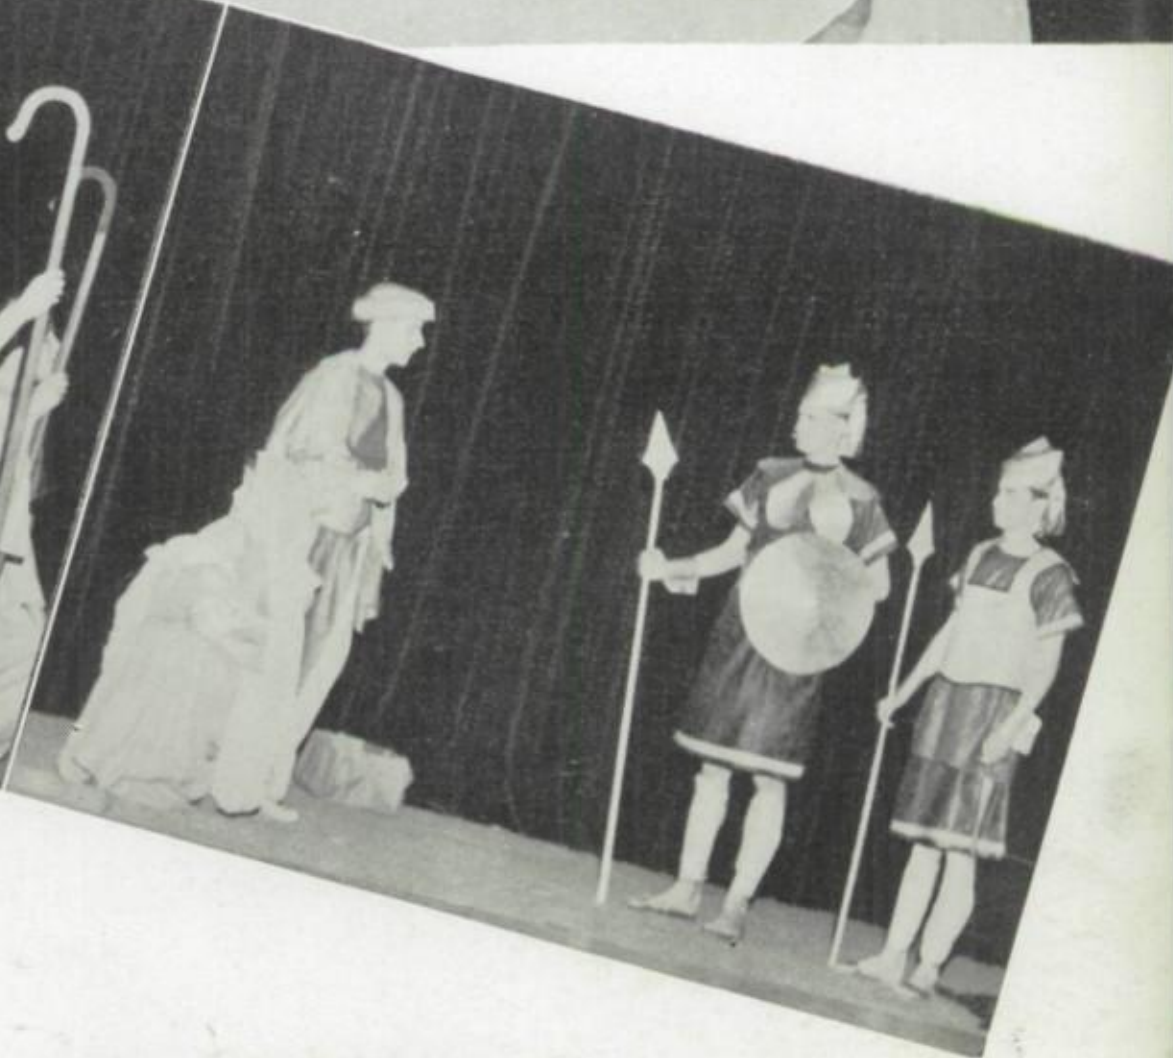

The lights dimmed, soft music pervaded the auditorium, as in a spirit of deep reverence, the annual Christmas pageant, "Gloria," was presented on December 17 and 18 to Creston students, their parents, and their friends.

Through the cooperation of the a cappella choir, directed by Mr. Frank Goodwin, and the dramatics department, headed by Miss Lois Conrad, the Christmas story, now a tradition in Creston, was again portrayed.

Scenes of dramatic interest were the prologue, where the prophecies were read by the chanting priest, and the manger scene, in which are gathered Judah, Saradan, Elizabeth, the shepherds, and the glee club, kneeling before Mary, Joseph, and the infant Jesus.

Solos sung from the celestial choir were: "The Virgin's Lullaby," and "Slumber Song of the Infant Jesus."

Leading the cast were: Rolland Van Hattum as Saradan, Bill Tubergon as Judah, Betty DeKorne as Elizabeth, Connie Ingersoll as the Madonna, and Gerald Dupler as Joseph.

Bottom, left: Saradan and Elizabeth plead with the soldiers. R. Van Hattem as Saradan, B. De Korne as Elizabeth, E. Dryer and C. Peterlien as the soldiers.

The One-Act Plays

Something new was added when four one-act plays instead of the customary three were presented by the dramatics classes, under the direction of Miss Lois Conrad, in the auditorium on November 27 and 28.

Taking the leading roles in "Who Gets the Car Tonight," a domestic comedy, were: Barbara Scharlow as Mary, William Tubergon as Paul, Ruth Julians as Mrs. Jones, Hubert Linkfield as Mr. Jones, and Dale Lothamer as Jack.

Playing in "Dust of the Road," a drama, were: Norma Stinson as Prudence Steele, Edward Dryer, Peter, Charles Peterlein as uncle, and Marvin Geldersma as the tramp.

The cast for "The Still Alarm," a satire, consisted of Gerald Dupler and Norman Addington as the two Englishmen, Don De Young as the bell boy, and Don Gebraad and Maurice Taylor as the two firemen.

In the play "Chrysanthemum," Don Strobe was property manager, Rae Steils, Kiku No Hana, Rolland Van Hattum, Kihuei Bona, Jack Chalmers, Kihu Mun Chang, rich suitor, Don Hillis, Connie Ingersoll, Kwan Yen, Goddess of Love.

Footlights Club

First Footlights Club party of the year was an alumnae box lunch, held at the home of Dorothy Jackman. Theme of the boxes was some phase of the theater, and each new member brought a box for both herself and an old member.

Miss Conrad, club sponsor, was next hostess. After dinner, the girls attended a presentation of "Stage Door" by the South High Thespians.

Other dinners were held at the home of Rae Elaine Steils, where an exchange of gifts was made and New Years was celebrated; and at Devon Gables Tea Room, followed by attendance of the Civic Player's production, "Elizabeth the Queen."

This year's club was the first group to order individual pins showing Footlights membership.

Orchestra

With Mr. Joel Lowe as director, our orchestra plays annually for "Gloria" and our four one-act plays.

The Woodwind Quartet, composed of orchestra members, Ed Albright, playing the flute; Jean Watrous, playing the oboe; Kathryn Starn, playing the clarinet; Frederick Pleune, playing the bassoon was a successful addition to the choir concert.

On April 23, the Music Night at Creston, the orchestra entertained music lovers with the overture "New Moon." Also, the orchestra participated in the Orchestra Festival.

The Cotton Band

Playing peppy music at the football and basketball games was one of the helpful activities of our band. The band, under the direction of Mr. Joel Lowe, also played at several pep broadcasts over station W.L.A.V. Another activity was their playing at the annual Golden Gloves Tournament. One of the many parades in which they marched was the Armistice Day Parade. Besides participating in the all-city band tournament, our band was featured at the Spring Concert, April 23rd.

It appeared in the city-wide parade held during clean-up week to encourage the collection of Salvage. The pictured players, J. Hall and J. Blymier, right, and E. Albright, K. Starn, J. Watrous, and F. Pleune, below, won first division honors in the all-city music tournament.

The A Capella Choir

This year the A Cappella choir sang over station WOOD and WLAV for the benefit of the Red Cross. When Grace Fields, the English Comedienne appeared at the Civic Auditorium, the choir was invited to sing as part of the program. Also, during Navy Day, while men were being recruited at the Civic Auditorium, the choir lent their voices in singing the National Anthem. The Spring Concert, featuring Creston's A Cappella choir was one of the highlights of their season. Under the directorship of Mr. Frank Goodwin, our choir has been taught the fundamentals of singing in a chorus. Ben Mol, president; Marvin Flanders, vice president; Joan Hogue, secretary; and Irving Sullivan, treasurer; were the officers selected by the choir members.

TOWN HALL

Debate

"Resolved: That every able bodied male citizen in the United States should be required to have one year of full-time military training before attaining the present draft age." This was the question at issue during debates with South, Muskegon High, Christian, and East Lansing High.

Although it won no debates the team under the guidance of Miss Betsy Lightner, their new coach, who replaced Mr. Merle Dawson, gained much experience.

Forensics

At the district Forensic Contest held here, April 14, Creston was highly honored in having several of its students first in the contests.

Winning first in the dramatic declamation contest was Mary Ellen Smith, who offered "Wurthering Heights." "There was a man" was the title of Margaret McMann's winning oratorical declamation.

Also participating in the dramatic declamation contest was Vivian Dent, a Creston Junior who spoke on "An American Citizen."

Marvin Geldersma represented Creston in oratory and Charles Day in extempore speaking.

Top: Charles Day practicing for the extempore speech contest, and Marvin Geldersma establishing a point.

Officers Parliamentary Club

Sponsored by Miss Margaret Appelt, the Presidents Club was organized to instruct presidents and vice presidents in the correct procedure of Parliamentary Law. This however is only half of the club's activities. To build up the treasury, the club sponsored different sales. Parties held at the home of their sponsor, Miss Appelt, and other club members were also given. The latest act passed was a resolution to change the name of the Presidents Club to the Officers Parliamentary Club. Membership in this club now includes all the club officers instead of just presidents.

Officers of the club are: president, I. Sullivan; vice president, Betty Lou Vestveer; secretary and treasurer, Keitha Harmon.

Senior Girl Reserves

"I will try to be gracious in manner, impartial in judgment, ready for service—" recited the ring of the Senior Girl Reserves at the annual candle-light service, held on September 24. First semester elections resulted in Virginia Klap as president; Mary Ellen Smith, vice president; Betty De Korne, secretary; and Rosena Lamphear, treasurer.

Spreads with the Hi-Y boys, participating in the Hanging of the Greens Ceremony at the Y.W.C.A., holding a world fellowship week service, and joining the city-wide Ring Girls group kept the Girl Reserves busy.

Sent to the annual conference at Jackson, Michigan, were Dorothy Klap and Louise Howard, who returned with several ideas for games and group activities.

Hikes as well as in-door activities were among their activities.

Leading the club the second semester were Virginia Klap, president; Helen Roberts, vice president; Betty De Korne, secretary; and Millie Klomprens, treasurer.

Junior Girl Reserves

A good start for the year was the getting acquainted party given by the Junior Girl Reserves, before the new officers were elected. Those chosen to lead the club were: president, Joyce Rodamer; vice-president, Elaine Dryer; secretary, Barbara Leary; and treasurer, Elaine Molinski.

Many and varied were the activities of the Reserves, but two of the most outstanding were making necklaces from broomsticks, and making tray favors for scarlet-fever victims.

Not to be out-done by the Senior Girl Reserves, the juniors sent a good number of representatives to both the Hanging of the Greens Ceremony and the Annual Banquet, both held at the Y.W.C.A.

Second semester officers were: Elaine Dryer as president; Mary Daney as vice-president; Eleanor McClain, secretary; and treasurer, Betty Jacholtz.

Along with the Junior Girl Reserves from other city high schools, the Creston club sponsored a booth on cosmetics and a posture queen for the Health Fair, also held at the Y.W.C.A.

The Hi-Y

Creston's Hi-Y enjoyed an active and successful year during 1941-1942, holding various social activities, competing in inter-mural sports, and doing their part in Creston's war effort.

The Hi-Y girl-reserves spreads at the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. during the winter and spring enjoyed large attendances and were considered to have been all-around successes.

The Hi-Y's contributions to the war effort were conducting the waste paper campaign for one week and leading work for increase in the paper brought all year.

Athletically, Creston led every Hi-Y in the city, taking the championship in the basketball loop formed by the Hi-Y teams of each school in the city.

To raise money for the pins presented to all graduating members and to pay for their Saga pictures, they sold paddle pops at every home basket ball game.

Parent Teacher Association

Talks on discipline, respect for public authority, courtesy, dignity of manual labor, keeping faith in our Constitution, and the value of personality, entertained the members of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Our Creston P.-T. A. Carnival was sponsored to pay for glasses needed by indigent students, Friday, November 14.

Most appreciated by the students were the Saturday night dances sponsored by the P.-T. A. with Mrs. Peter Van Hattum as chairman.

The annual P.-T. A. banquet was held Tuesday, May 19.

Amicitia Club

Sweaters, socks, and afghans! Authorities on the art of knitting these objects are the Amicitias. This year the "friendship" club turned interests and talents to Red Cross work, besides their usual round of parties and activities.

Following the custom of former years, the children of the St. John's orphanage were presented with scrapbooks made by club members.

Officers for the year were: Betty Churchill, president; Donna DeWeerd, vice president; Mary Bowers, secretary; and Connie Ingersoll, treasurer.

Norma Stinson was hostess for a potluck dinner, and the joint Christmas party with the Presidents' Club was held at the home of Miss Appelt, Club sponsor.

Home meetings to plan the all-girls banquet were held, with Betty Churchill and Mary Bowers as hostesses.

Student Council

Under the sponsorship of Miss Eness the Student Council has had a busy year. In addition to the regular work of school government, the group organized an assembly which was exchanged with other schools, sponsored Courtesy Week and an Inter-High Ping-Pong Tournament, and held ice cream sales.

Courtesy Squad

By having students stationed at desks throughout the halls each period, the Courtesy Squad, sponsored by Miss Windt, and assisted by co-chairmen Marvin Geldersma and Tom Lootens, stresses, as does the Student Council, good student government.

The seven student managers for each hour were: 1. Bud Van Eck, 2. Roger Bullock, 3. Ben Mellema, 4. James Hulsapple, 5. Ivan Lawyer, 6. Ned Stuits, 7. D. O. Stuck.

Senior Honor Society

Under the leadership of President Connie Ingersoll, Vice President Arthur Kimber, Secretary Marie Washburn, and Treasurer Tom Lootens, the Senior Honor Society, sponsored by Miss Cleo Wood, was active in school activities. The purpose of the club is to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote leadership, and to develop character in the students of American secondary schools.

The club started a petition to eliminate final exams for students with a B average, sponsoring different sales, assisting with the sale of choir concert tickets, and sponsoring the campaign to collect books and magazines for the men of our fighting forces — these were some of the most important activities of the eighteen members of the Senior Honor Society.

Junior Honor Society

Consisting of freshmen and sophomores, chosen by the faculty on the bases of leadership, dependability, cooperation, and scholastic ability, the Junior Honor Society, a branch of the National Honor Society, is particularly helpful in activities which benefit our school.

The officers, elected by the members for the entire year are president, Maurice Reed; vice president, Susan Anderson; secretary-treasurer, Betty Lou Westveer.

As our Junior Honor Society has charge of Red Cross work, they have assisted the Red Cross annual Roll Call and Christmas boxes for Britain. One of their latest most useful activities was the beginning of a knitting class, sponsored by the National Red Cross. Annually, the Junior Honor Society takes a survey of St. John's orphanage and presents the children with gifts.

Camera Club

To broaden their knowledge of photography, and to better their art of taking and printing pictures, is the purpose of the Camera Club, sponsored by Mr. Gerrit Wassenaar.

Taking pictures for the Saga and Echo and enlarging students' pictures has kept this group occupied most of the year.

Most of the members have built their own dark rooms and equipped them in their own homes.

Officers for the first semester were: Charles Perry, president; Bob Smith, vice president; Bob Lynch, secretary; and Bill Patterson, treasurer.

In the second semester election of officers, Bob Lynch was elected president; Burt Brown, vice president; Charles Perry, secretary; and Bob Smith, treasurer.

Boys' Science Club

The members of the Boys' Science Club and their sponsor, Mr. Walter Wood, visited many educational institutions. Among these were the airport, where they learned about the work connected with weather and radio; the Michigan Bakery, where they saw the whole bread-making process; the Filtration Plant; and Ford Paint Factory.

To reinforce the treasury, the Boys' Science Club sponsored hot dog sales.

Every fourth Wednesday they went bowling for outside activity.

Saga

"The Good Old Golden Rule Days" is the theme carried out in this year's Saga.

"Avoid that last minute rush — get 'em there on time," was the motto of the staff, headed by Frank

Andrews, editor-in-chief. To accomplish this, the staff began their work, such as choosing the theme, very early in the school year.

Major divisions were planned as follows: "Old Opera House," which includes all dramatic and musical activities and productions, "Little Red School House" containing the Senior and under-class pictures. The "Town Hall" consisting of civic activities; "General Store," under which all other clubs are presented; and "Ye Olde Gym" for athletics.

Echo

Greater efficiency seems to be the keynote of success these days, and, not to be behind the times, the Echo staff made some drastic revisions. The former managing editor was promoted to Editor-in-Chief, with the duty of coordinating all efforts of other editors. Advanced to the vacated position of managing editor was the news editor, and so it went, down to the last copy reader.

As is the custom, the annual Subscription Campaign was opened with an assembly featuring a brief, humorous skit, followed by the introduction of the publication staffs.

Another huge undertaking was assumed by this year's staff, when they volunteered as host to the Inter-staff Banquet, a city-wide high school affair, held here on March 31. The campaign skit was again presented to show other schools why Creston subscription list is the largest in the city.

Senior Ushers

Keeping order during assemblies, seeing that the students are seated correctly and maintaining order while the students leave the auditorium, are the duties of the Senior Ushers. With Mrs. Sadie Stowell as their leader, the ushers, have helped to make the assemblies of the year more successful. The Head Usher is Bob Stellema.

Societas Latina

The motto of the Latin Club of Creston High School is "Non Scholae, sed vita cognoscimus" which translated means "Not for school we learn, but for life."

Sponsored by Mrs. Sadie Stowell and Mrs. Louise Verdier, the club began the year by selling armbands to be worn by the football enthusiasts. The annual Christmas Party was held December 12, 1941, in the girls gym. Exchanging gifts, dancing, and enjoying refreshments provided the entertainment.

The club has both social and business meetings, to make it possible for all to participate. It was organized by those students who have taken or are taking second year Latin.

Bars and Chevrons

The Bars and Chevrons Club was organized under the guidance of Sergeant Ver Bust. There are four Bars and Chevrons Clubs in the city. They are at Creston, South, Union, and Central. Membership of the club is open only to commissioned officers, non-commissioned officers, and girl sponsors of companies, G and H of Creston. The idea of the club is to provide for social get-togethers of the officers and sponsors. The club meets every Tuesday night after school and has an official club pin with a design similar to the club letter. Cadet Lt. Col. Jack Chalmers, second battalion commander, was elected president and Cadet Capt. Wood, commander of company G, was elected vice president. The secretary was sponsor Gloria Drake, and sponsor Barbara Scharlow is treasurer. Lt. Arthur Kimber was elected Sergeant of Arms. The profits from the Military Ball were divided between the units in the city. Besides this, the club held a dance and a roller skating party to make some money. Several successful social events were held by the club during the year. Each member is awarded a school letter of a special design.

Creston R.O.T.C.

The new units organized this last year at Creston consist of companies G and H. Each company has four girl sponsors, who drill and are graded with the company in inspection. Three inspections were held besides the federal inspection, commonly known as Field Day, when all the companies in the city competed against each other on May 29, at 6:30 P.M. The best company, squad, commissioned officer, non-commissioned officer, and private in competition received recognition. The first public appearance of the Creston units was in the Armistice Day Parade. Both companies participated and marched from lower Monroe to Fulton Street Park.

An annual dance is sponsored by the members of the R.O.T.C. units and is called the military ball. This year the ball was held at Union High School, November 15.

"C" Club

Composed of major letter winners, the "C" Club is primarily athletic minded, taking an active part in the extension and organization of Creston sports.

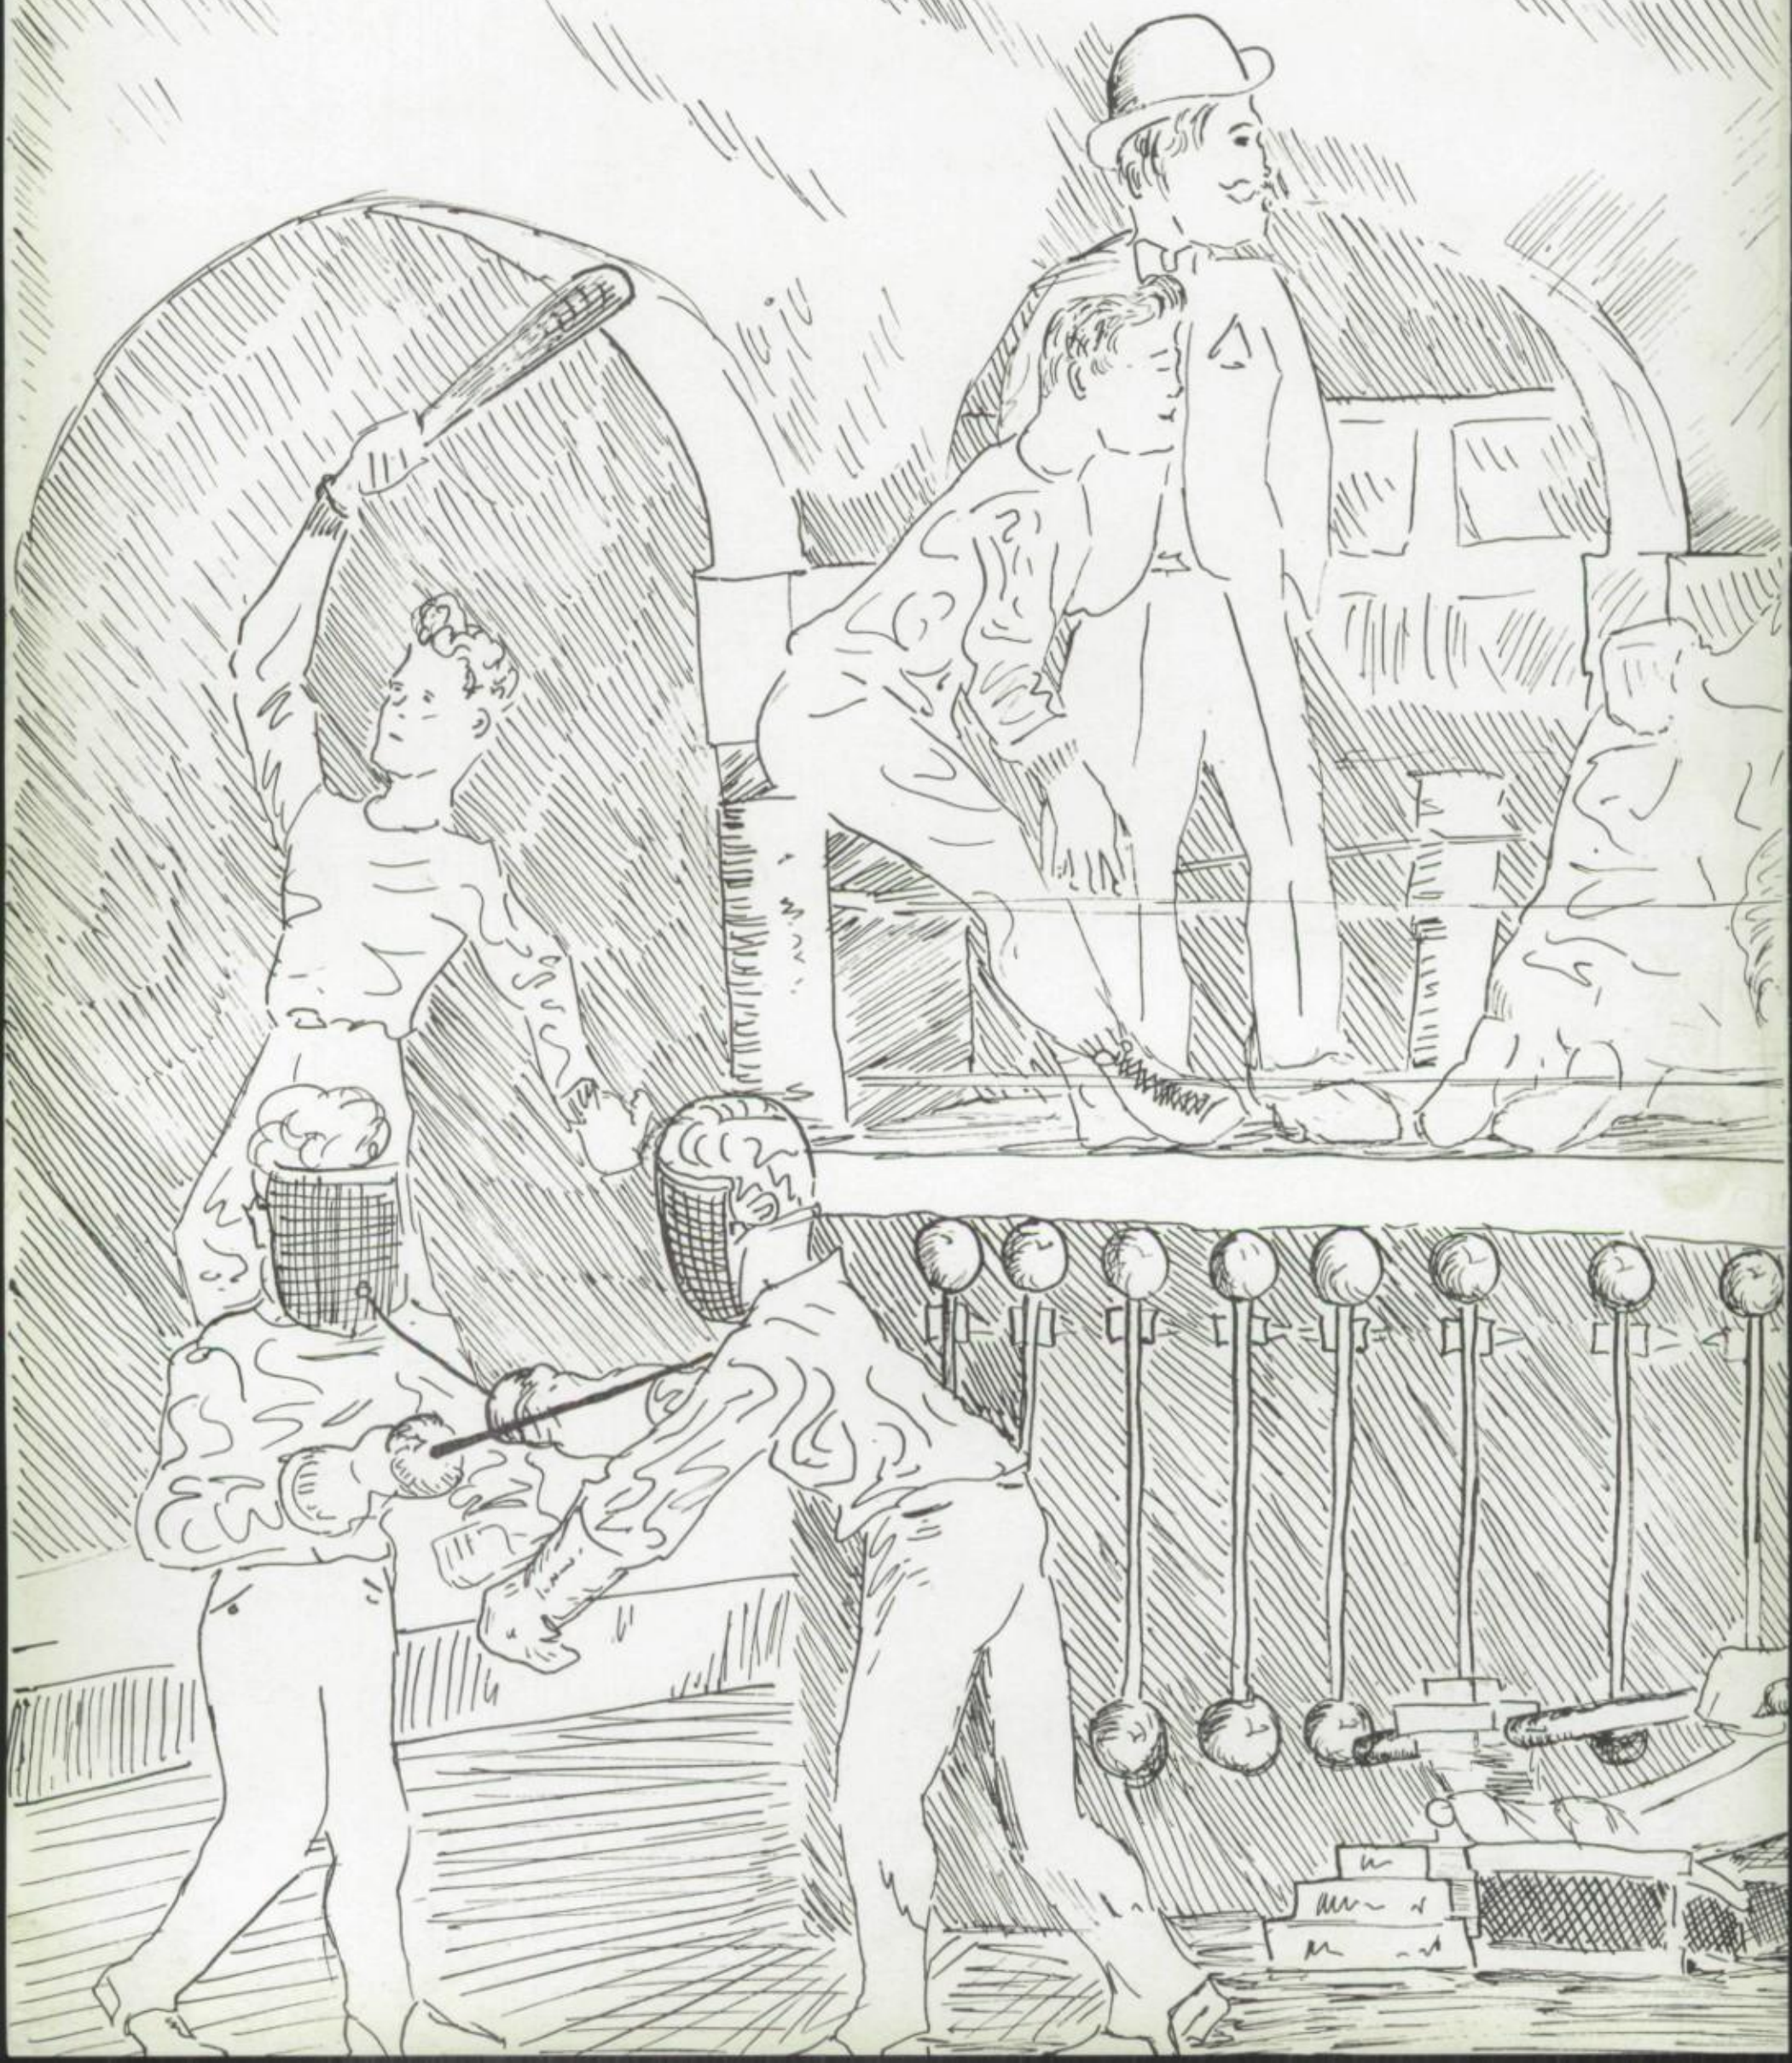

George Schad was elected president for the year; Chuck Harrison, vice president; Ed Stefaniak, secretary; Bob Harrison, treasurer; and Harry Truckle, sergeant-at-arms.

Under these officers the club held a dance after a basketball game, the Gold-Diggers Prom, conducted the paddle-pop sales, had an initiation party, and sponsored the paper sale for one week, collecting approximately 2,000 pounds.

Football

Now comes the time when the performances of Creston's football athletes lie behind them, and their future in obscurity. As we sit and gloat over the brilliancy of their deeds, many more of those fond memories arise and seem to once again take their place in the lime-light of the sports parade.

For instance, there is the impressive way in which our varsity squad concentrated their football barrage against the stern competition for city league laurels.

Two road trips for the team resulted in a 0-0 deadlock at Holland, and a decisive 25-0 thumping from the big Muskegon Reds. This experience, plus the able coaching of Martin Van Wingen caused the Polar Bears to turn loose an attack against Ottawa which won them their first city encounter, 7-0. Joe Noorthoek returned the ball on a kick by Horn for the tally.

A luckless Central squad was the victim of a 12-6 count as the Bears made it two straight.

The Home-Coming game with the Tech Wildcats found the Creston pass attack clicking for the winning seven points margin.

Futile attempts were made to halt the Catholic powerhouse, against whom Creston's lone tally in the 13-6 count was made by Bob Harrison on an off-tackle play.

The Polar Bears absorbed their second league loss 13-0 when the Red Hawks of Union trampled the north-enders in their attempt to emerge as city champs.

A 26-12 thumping was received in the season finale against South.

Creston's lone candidate on the all-city squad was fluid motion Joe Noorthoek, stellar back.

Basketball

Creston's cagers opened the current season on the road by successfully tangling with a strong Grand Haven squad 18-7. They then met an avalanche of teams who possessed too many big guns and were unable to pick up a second victory till seven encounters later when they struck pay territory against a taller, faster Central aggregation for a 25-23 victory.

The second and major city league victory came for the Crestonites when they defeated South High's Trojans in a game packed with thrills and rough-house tactics, by the score of 31-29 to end the season.

Although few games were won throughout the season, there was present on Coach Schrupp's five, that fighting spirit which characterizes all Creston teams.

Track

Creston's 1942 cinder pounders, with a surprising amount of balance in all events, reaped laurels during the past season which classed them as the best in the school's history.

In dual meet competition the Bear team went rocketing with victories over Union, Catholic, Central, and Tech. Team representatives reaped first place in the strong competition at the Kalamazoo Relays.

A total of 59 points gave the squad first place standing in the city Regional contest held at Houseman Field.

With only South remaining on their dual meet schedule the team swamped Ottawa 90-32.

Baseball

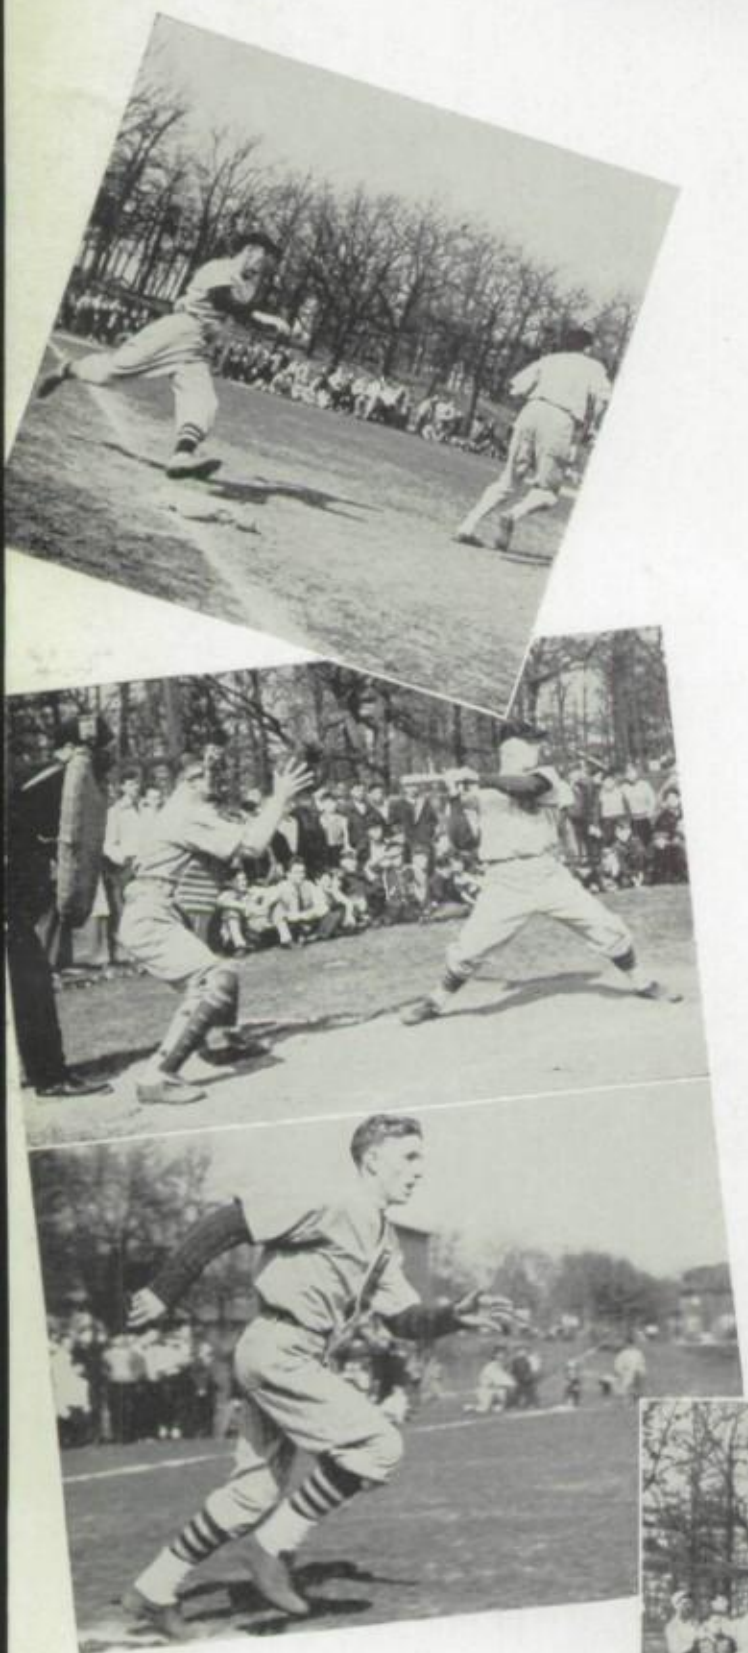

With a team composed almost entirely of juniors, Coach Henry Schrump led his nine through a successful season.

In the season's starter against Catholic, the Bears showed a weakness at the plate, losing 6-2. Against Union, Creston was on the short end of a 8-3 count, but later a possible forfeit was considered due to the play of an over-age player on the Union nine.

Van Luyn displayed some cool, air-tight pitching when the Bears defeated Ottawa 5-3 at Briggs. The thrill game of the season was the Tech game, when Ed Stefaniak hit a homer in the seventh inning with Jensen on base, and a tie score.

The team met each school's nine twice during the course of the season.

Steady hurlers for the team were Larson, Van Luyn, and Turpening. Ed Stefaniak, Charles Harrison, Jensen and Larson were the only members lost through graduation.

Golf

Six prospective mashie wielders dug up the greensward at Kent Country Club in answer to Coach Walter Woods call to represent the Polar Bears on the links.

The team consisted of Captain Miller, Byrnes, and Roberts, with Toot, Schad, and Dukes trying for the number four spot.

They started the current season by meeting Christian's golfers at Highland, and closing with play in the regional and state contests.

Tennis

Coach Robert Linden had a nucleus of four returning members from last year's squad to build his 1942 tennis team around.

In their first encounter against the Ottawa Indians, the netmen were bolstered by the performances of Marvin Flanders, Dave Peterson, and Alva Oslin.

The entire team will remain intact for next year, except Flanders, who has been lost through graduation.

The Annual

Using as a theme: "Keep Fit for Victory," the annual Girl's Meet unfolded before cheering throngs the evening of April 16, 1942, in the E. C. Buss gymnasium, immediately after a select group of girls, picked for posture, had formed an immense V and took part in the short but vigorous calisthenics.

In a spirit of friendly competition and sportsmanship, the girls of each grade took part in the various activities, including relays, folk dances, stunts, and the colorful American square dance, climaxed by the presentation of the cups to the managers of the jubilant seniors and eighth graders by Mrs. Enright, supervisor of the physical education department. Flowers were presented to Mrs. Griffin and Mrs. Butterfield for their efforts at making the meet a success. At the conclusion of the activities, the audience patriotically joined the tired but happy girls in the singing of our National Anthem while the flag of the United States was carried before them as an inspiration.

One of the main objectives of the years' sports program is that of sportsmanship. An excellent example of this was the applause given the winning squads by the losing teams.

Mr. Robert Teele, Creston mathematics teacher, was the official score keeper, assisted by Virginia Miller, Shirley Johnson, Barbara Clay, Lois Johnson, and Bernice Sorenson, all former Creston students who graciously returned to act as judges.

The entire meet was in charge of the small but dynamic Betty Zeldam. She had as helpers the following managers: Ruth Niehaus, senior; Millie Klomparens, junior; Joan Marquardt, sophomore; Connie Alvers, ninth grade; Peggy Empie, eighth grade; and Yvonne Shrump and Patricia Palmatier, seventh grade.

Aurora Borealis

The Aurora Borealis Club began a successful year with the election of officers: Betty Zeldam was elected president; Joan Hogue, vice president; and Anna Vander Jagt, secretary-treasurer.

Under the direction of the officers, and with the help of their sponsor, Mrs. Bruce Griffin, the club was active in the pursuit of both pleasure and business. A hayride was held for the members and their guests, at Harmon's farm, December 13. This was followed by an ice cream sandwich sale to help raise money for the annual girls meet. On March 2 Mrs. Griffin held a spread at her home for the chairmen of the various activities in the meet and on April 16 this entertaining event was held.

Aside from these club undertakings, individual groups have participated in hikes, skating parties, picnics, and various other enjoyable sports.

Hikers Club

With their motto "Hike to Health" and, under the energetic direction of Miss Jennie James, the Hikers Club opened their activities in September with an initiation party which resulted in a comical sight along Plainfield Avenue!

As for the officers of the first semester, the club chose Pat Parsaca, president; Dot Frazee, vice president; Margaret Vander Hoff, secretary; and Lucille Brown, treasurer.

Turning to the second semester, the following elections were made: president, Betty Westveer; vice president, Connie Hall; secretary, Dot Kerjes; and treasurer, Lucille Brown.

Under these leaders the club held a Hallowe'en party at school, prepared Thanksgiving baskets for the needy, enjoyed many potlucks, hiked in the cold, wintry out-of-doors, and climaxed their activities with a Christmas celebration.

Our sincere thanks to the class of 1942 for their cooperation.
